

Psychology

Mission Statement:

The mission of the Psychology Program is to ensure students develop the ability to apply and evaluate the scientific concepts and theories that describe and explain human behavior and the scientific methods used to gain that knowledge.

Appropriate assessment techniques will be used to measure these outcomes.

Educational Goals

Students completing coursework in the discipline of psychology should be able to:

1. Discuss the scope and complexity of the field of psychology as a research and applied discipline.
2. Demonstrate competent written and oral communication skills.
3. Describe and critically evaluate the scientific methods used in research and the knowledge gained from such methods.
4. Analyze, evaluate, and apply the various concepts and theoretical perspectives that guide research in the individual content areas of psychology.
5. Demonstrate the ability to apply the knowledge of psychology to understand and explain human behavior in all settings.

Submitted by: Catina Williams

Division: Liberal Arts

Date Reviewed: 9/8/2016

Status: Accepted